

Lavrov, Nalbandian: Azerbaijan rejected Kazan document, not Armenia

YEREVAN, APRIL 22.

It is not Armenia that rejected the Kazan document, Russian Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov gave such response to the question of journalist which says that there are releases in the Russian media that Armenia and Azerbaijan rejected the Kazan document.

“My answer is very simple to your question: as a direct participant in those events I can say that Armenia has not rejected that document”, Armenpress reports, Sergey Lavrov says.

In its turn Armenian Foreign Minister Edward Nalbandian added: “My partner already said that Armenia has not rejected the document, which means that Azerbaijan rejected it. Azerbaijan did the same setback and rejection not only in Kazan, but before that as I have said many times, also in Sochi, Moscow, Astrakhan and St. Petersburg. So we can reach to Paris ten years ago, when Paris negotiations were held. This is the reality”.